REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL 2008-01
National Child Benefit Reinvestment Initiative in the District of Timiskaming
Limited One-Time Funding - 2008

What is the National Child Benefit Reinvestment Initiative?

National Child Benefit Funding from the federal government is available to low income families with children. This results in savings in the social assistance sector. The province and municipalities have shared in the obligation to reinvest these savings in programs and services to support children in low income families as directed. The District of Timiskaming Social Services Administration Board (DTSSAB) reviews proposals for funding approval.

2008 marks the final year for federal government approval of the reinvestment of savings for programs and services. Funds will be allocated to projects that best meet the National Child Benefit Reinvestment mandate to prevent or reduce the depth of child poverty, and/or promote the attachment of families to the workforce in the District of Timiskaming.

Who can submit proposals?

Any community group, individual or agency, including municipalities, can apply as long as:
